Canaletto Pinot Grigio (Canaletto wines are the very essence of Italy, each telling a story of a special Italian region and its unique wine styles. The Veneto in the north east of Italy is home to Venice, Lake Garda and many classic wine producing regions with Pinot Grigio vines long a part of the region's landscape. This wine has a lovely floral aroma, with masses of fresh fruit flavours on the palate and a rush of citrus acidity, making it perfectly balanced and totally refreshing. An elegant style of wine which is ideal on its own, or with creamy pasta sauces, fish dishes or white meats).

75cl btl £14.30

Previatia Frascati (This is the "City of Wine" located not far from Rome. The city gives its name to a wine from the area. Before there was a city of Rome, the citizens of the ancient city of Tusculum enjoyed the local wine. The Romans called it the "Gold Wine," due not only to its pale, straw color, but the monies it brought to local economies. Frascati has been mentioned in Italian literature more than any other wine. The volcanic ground gives it a flavor impossible to duplicate anywhere else. Frascati is blended from white Malvasia, Tuscan Trebbiano, Greco and Malvasia from Lazio grapes. If you are looking for dry Frascati be certain to check the label for secco (dry). There are amabile, dolce, and cannellino versions as well. The latter is a special version using very ripe grapes hopefully infected with botrytis cinerea. A spumante Frascati is also produced).
